

Life of a tree

Concept:

Initially I wanted to make a cherry tree which lost its leaves with time. But I was not able to make it work, to have a still tree and then let some objects change. I should probably have made use of classes and objects instead.

But the concept became the growing tree. So, the time part of the project, is the life of the tree, that develops with time.

Inspiration – the cherry tree:

Time of something living, not necessarily seconds, minutes and hours.
